Zeway Monastery Orphan Vulnerable Children (OVC)

You can make a difference!

Vision on Africa (VoA) has recently recognized the immediate need of orphans in Zewaye, a region that is 164 km south of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. VoA focuses in supporting orphans in a monastery established about 25 years ago. The orphan houses about 30 children and is led by an Ethiopian priest that resides in that region.

History: The orphanage center in the monastery was first established in 1978 by Archbishop Abune Georgorios, an Ethiopian Orthodox bishop in Ethiopia. The Archbishop went to Zewaye and was quick to observe the presence of an abject poverty in that region. Abune instantly established an orphanage center within the monastery and took 12 children to the monastery; where he began to teach them basic education i.e., reading/writing and arithmetic skills.

By using the money left from the clergy and with the help of some concerned contributors, the Archbishop was dedicated to raise these children. In that way, Abune Georgorios led the orphanage vigorously from 1978 to 1990 and he passed away in 1990. Currently, the center is supported by Ethiopians both living in Ethiopia and abroad.

Mission: Today, the children in this orphanage still live in poverty. Although the center has managed to enhance the living conditions for these children, the children are still not able to eat proper meals during the day, are not able to visit doctors as needed and have to travel miles to go to school.

Thus, with the donation of $1.00 a day from thoughtful individuals, VoA plans to cover their medical and dietary needs as well as hire a local teacher for the under aged children to avoid walking of miles just to attend schools.
